"A need for dialogue ..."

A crowded room, hundreds of laughing, smiling faces, faces belonging to laughing, smiling people together with their friends, their "close" friends. One person is alone, withdrawn, silent, ignored.

The room could be a cafeteria, a classroom, anyplace. It is irrelevant. The scene is common. We have all witnessed it. Observed it if you're the lucky one, lived it if you are less fortunate. Or perhaps you saw it, but preferred to overlook it—not comprehending nor caring. Apathy can be very convenient.

If you haven't noticed this all too common phenomenon, it's likely you are one of those considered popular. If not popular in its school type definition, then at least not unpopular. We all understand the stigma of being classified as friend-less, being untouchable in the caste system of the modern American High School.

Why not communicate?

The person alone—why? Perhaps it's because of prejudice (it still exists, subtly, but it is alive and well and living in all too many places.) Is it because of race or religion or some other supposedly important, but in reality insignificant characteristic.

Maybe it is the fault of the person himself. Perhaps he is antisocial, a loner or paranoid. Maybe.

Or could it be because your friends are not with you and you feel it is beneath you to make the first move toward a new friendship.

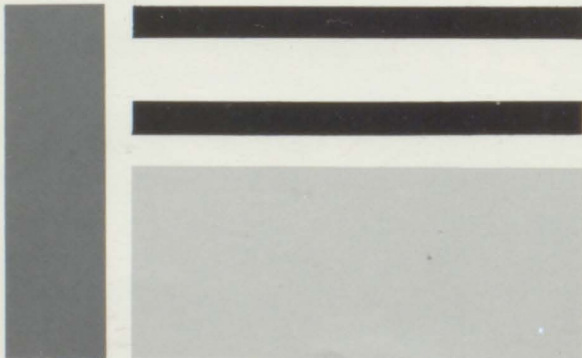

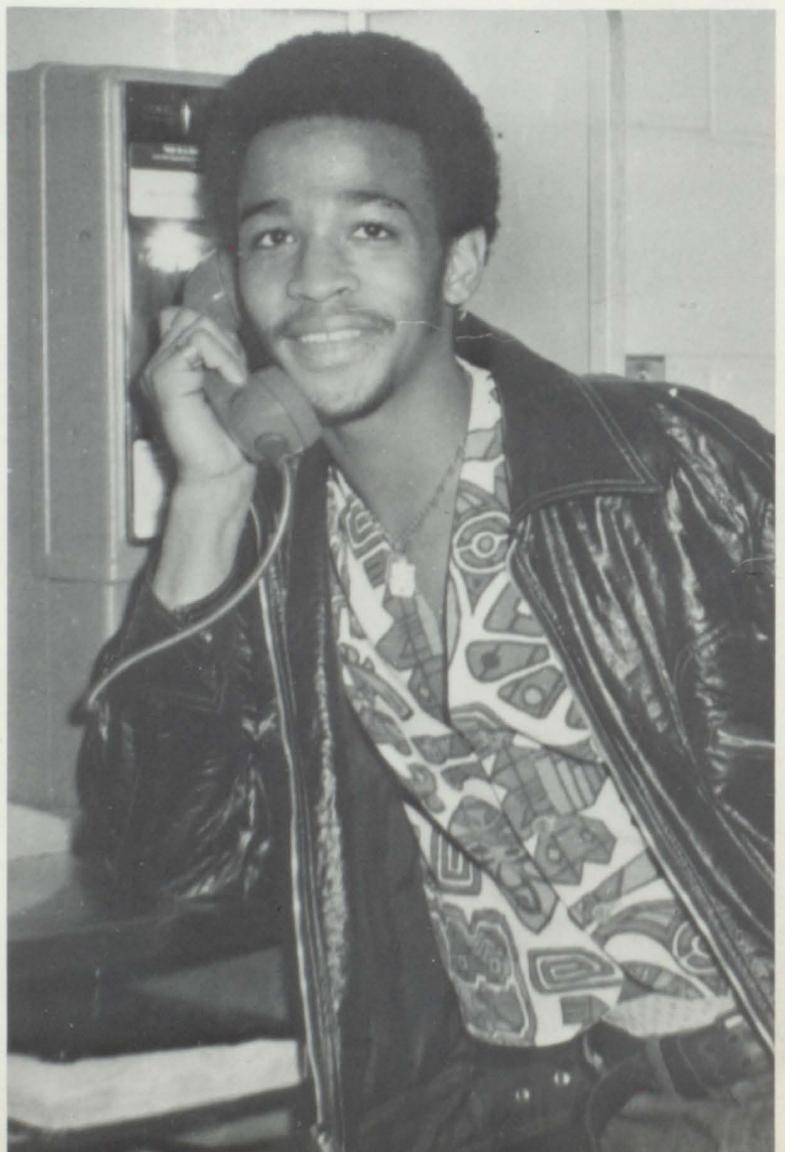

Or perhaps you are so unyielding because of loyalty to other, closer friends.

Or might you have heard gossip and unkind rumors concerning someone. You choose to remain immobile, fearing the damage to your reputation that association with this person might bring.

Or is the person sitting next to you someone you know vaguely; someone whose face does not always match a name in your memory.

Please, make an effort and a new friend. Communicate, reach out, be friendly, cooperative, and neighborly. Open up! Don't let your clique be the ruling voice of your conscience. Become totally involved in collaboration and association. A need for dialogue truly does exist.

Once upon a time ...

On a fine autumn day, with the sun shining down from a sky of deepest blue, some friends decided it might be fun to take a bike ride. Talking animatedly, they pedaled down the road, oblivious to the brightly colored trees protecting their path, with only their boisterous laughter trailing behind as a testament to their existence in that spot.

Together they shared an experience that was as unique as it is universal. They communicated on a one to one level. Unconsciously, unknowingly, spontaneously—they accomplished in one brief moment what others fail to in a lifetime. They opened their minds allowing their souls to indulge and satisfy our common need—the need for dialogue.

CHS comes home in '74

On Friday, October 18 the students of Calumet High School celebrated their annual Homecoming.

The Homecoming game was not played, as customary, at the school.

Homecoming queen was Geri Grant, senior. Court members were Blanche Widelski, Renee Bass and Kathi Chakos. Darl Morton was presented with the title of Mr. Football at the dance held in the girls' gymnasium at CHS.

Spirit Week livens school

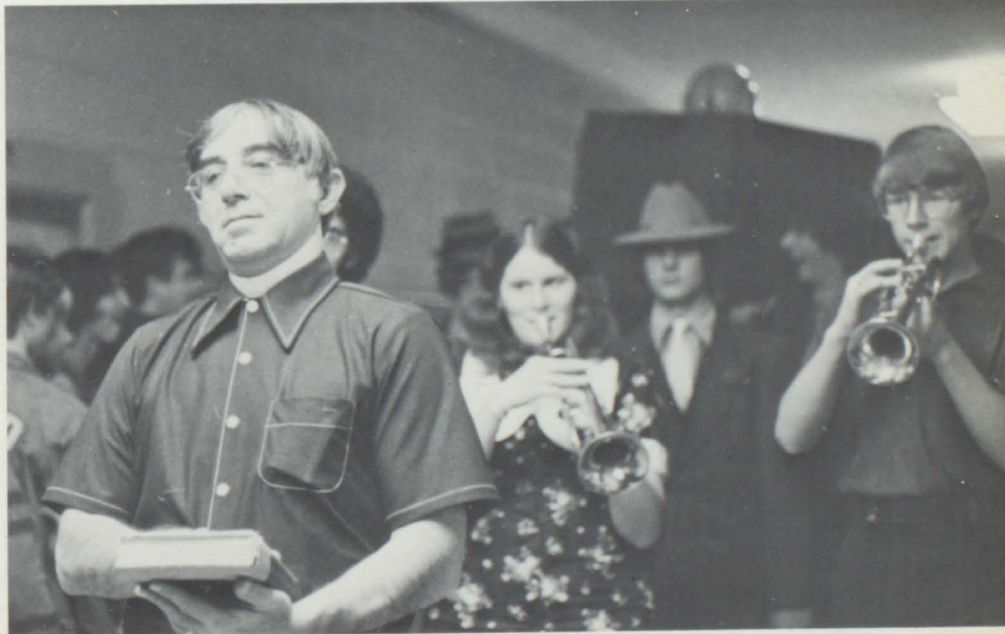

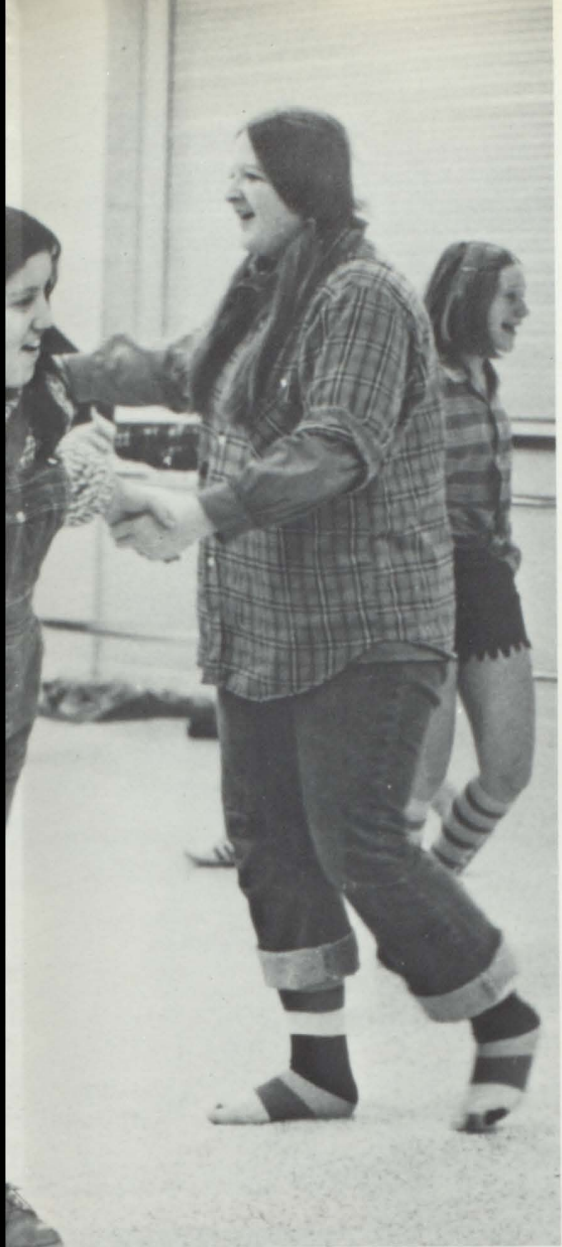

Brightens students and

Creates havoc with old plan

The 1974 Homecoming Week, the traditional time of fun and games for students at CHS, began on Monday October 14 continuing until that Friday the 18. The first day of the festivities was designated as Greaser Day, with students dressing as '50's hipsters and dancing in the cafeteria during lunch hours to early rock-n-roll. In the morning, the 20 queen candidates were introduced to the student body and later in the day voting was conducted to select the 4 nominees. By dressing in cut-offs, straw hats and other hillbilly attire, Sadie Hawkins Day was celebrated on Tuesday. A procession through the halls of the school to mourn the Trojans was Wednesday's activity. Those who participated wore appropriately dark and somber clothing. Sports Day followed, allowing the students to wear the uniform of their favorite sport.

The Powderpuff game was held on the afternoon of the same Thursday. Due to the renovation of the field at CHS, the game was held at Lake Junior High School. The traditional bike ride was cancelled because of lack of facilities. The game, played by junior and senior GAA athletes, ended in a 6-6 tie. That evening the bonfire burned, as in the past at CHS.

On Friday Warrior Day and the final day of Spirit Week, students dressed as Indians, using moccasins, headdresses, and braided hair. The final vote for the Homecoming Queen was taken and in the afternoon another assembly, a pep session was scheduled. It included the annual sophomore skit and the presentation of the cake to the football team. The final event was a dance held at the CHS gymnasium after the game.

The 1974 GAA Turnabout Ball, held on the evening of December 18, proved to be a success. The theme was City Sidewalks. The old gymnasium was appropriately decorated. One hundred twenty couples attended.

The queen was Kathi Chakos, senior, with juniors Annette Ragsdale and Sharon Peek serving as her court.

Every junior and senior girl who is a member of the Girls Athletic Association has the opportunity to be queen. Each junior and senior girl who is planning to attend the ball is voted for the position by her peers—her fellow members.

College Day initiated in 1974

Administrators at Calumet High School planned and succeeded in presenting a new facility. The new activity was College Day. Because of its apparent success, the program will probably become an established tradition.

Booths were set up in the old gymnasium for representatives of 26 colleges and universities, with leaflets, booklets, and other articles of information. This procedure allowed students to browse at leisure from booth to booth, discussing any pertinent issue with the representatives present. All juniors and seniors were welcomed to participate in the College Day program.

Parent Day Succeeds again

Also occurring during the school year was the second annual Parent Day. On that day, students attended school only during the morning, with their parents arriving in time to sample a perhaps better than average CHS cafeteria lunch. The parents followed their child's schedule, allowing 15 minutes for each class.

During the allotted time, each parent had the opportunity to discuss and analyze their child's individual talents and progress with faculty members.

Encouraging students to be concerned with charity and the plight of the poor, the annual Mardi Gras was scheduled for Thursday February 20. It was held, as in the past, in the old gymnasium from 6:30 to 9:30 in the evening.

Participating clubs and organizations set up booths and game areas, allowing the students to browse at will in the free-style atmosphere. A few of the varied activities which took place were the Biology Club's fish game, Human Relations' dart and colored board games, Pan Am's bean bag throw, GAA's basketball throw, C-Teens' throw ball through tire game, hula-gan by the joint efforts of the Pep Club and the cheerleaders, pick up bottle with ring on stick by the Gymnastics Club, stuffed animals by Health Occupations, cartoons and the grand prize game by the Yearbook staff, and the Student Council's cake walk. A number of refreshments were available to the spectators, including tacos by the Pan Am Club, candy on behalf of the Honor Society, and the concession stands with hot dogs, chili dogs, corny dogs, and beverages.

Twenty per cent of the total profits earned by each organization was donated to a charity chosen by the Student Council, which was the actual sponsor of the Mardi Gras. The clubs kept the remaining funds to cover the costs of their booths.

Clubs and Students go All out

One of the many scheduled assemblies which took place at Calumet High School during the 1974-1975 school year was an exhibition basketball game. This not only gave the basketball team the opportunity to show off its prowess while earning some money on the side, but also allowed the students to miss a portion of their afternoon classes, which only added to popularity of the event.

"True Blue and Trusted" And basketball assembly Brighten the students' days

The first play presented by the Calumet Players, the drama club at Calumet High School under the direction of Mr. Paul Borlick, was the melodrama "True Blue and Trusted". After many long and dedicated hours of practice and rehearsal, the play was presented before the student body at an assembly, charging the admission price of 25 cents.

All juniors and seniors are eligible to join Calumet Players and all members have the opportunity to try out for a specific part in a play. Members who are not a part of the cast involve themselves with the actual production of the play. The behind-the-scenes people for "True Blue and Trusted" were script girl Janet Targett and prompter Tom Evans, both juniors.

For the second time in two years, the Navy Rock Band performed for students at Calumet High School on May 8, 1975. The group consisted of 8 Navy men who both played and sang.

Their selections included material originally performed by the groups Chicago and Kool and the Gang. Students were encouraged to participate by dancing.

The GAA banquet was held May 23 in the girls' old gymnasium at Calumet High School. Many members attended this annual event.

At the banquet, awards were presented to deserving athletes and also the next year's officers were announced.

Assemblies buoy Spirits of Students at CHS

The premier concert of Calumet High School's accapella chorus served a dual purpose as an assembly for the student body. Under the direction of Mr. Daniel Gresh, choral director for the first quarter of the 1974-1975 school year, the chorus performed such popular songs as "Ben" and "I'll Be There." Glen Nelson and Jerry Solon, both seniors, accompanied the chorus on guitar and drum respectively. It was Mr. Gresh's first and last opportunity to direct his choir in front of a live audience. The admission price to the assembly was twenty five cents.

Various students at Calumet High School had the opportunity to participate in the Innercity Schools Memorial honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. It was held on the birthday of the late Dr. King, January 15, at Gary Vocational Technical School. Selected students in the Gary area were able to listen to and contribute in discussions on subjects such as poverty, crime, abortion, drugs, and war.

Basketball promotes Assemblies and Spirit

Basketball, the perennial winter sport favorite, was the key to two assemblies during the 1974-1975 school year.

An assembly featuring the members of the Girls' Athletic Association was held after the sectional to honor the basketball team. The girls, dressed in basketball uniforms, each portrayed a member of the guys' team.

The in-out basketball game gave the basketball team their final chance to play as a team. The in-out symbolizes the juniors who are in for another year and the seniors who aren't.

Gymnastics Fantastics

Perform for student body

Students at Calumet High School were given the opportunity to observe a display of gymnastics on a first-hand basis. Called Gymnastics Fantastics, the team consisted of a man and his two children, a son and a daughter.

Together, the family group presented a very well-planned and entertaining program, performing both together and alone. Their major equipment was the trampoline, although floor acts were also employed. One of the high points of the show was the father-daughter clown act.

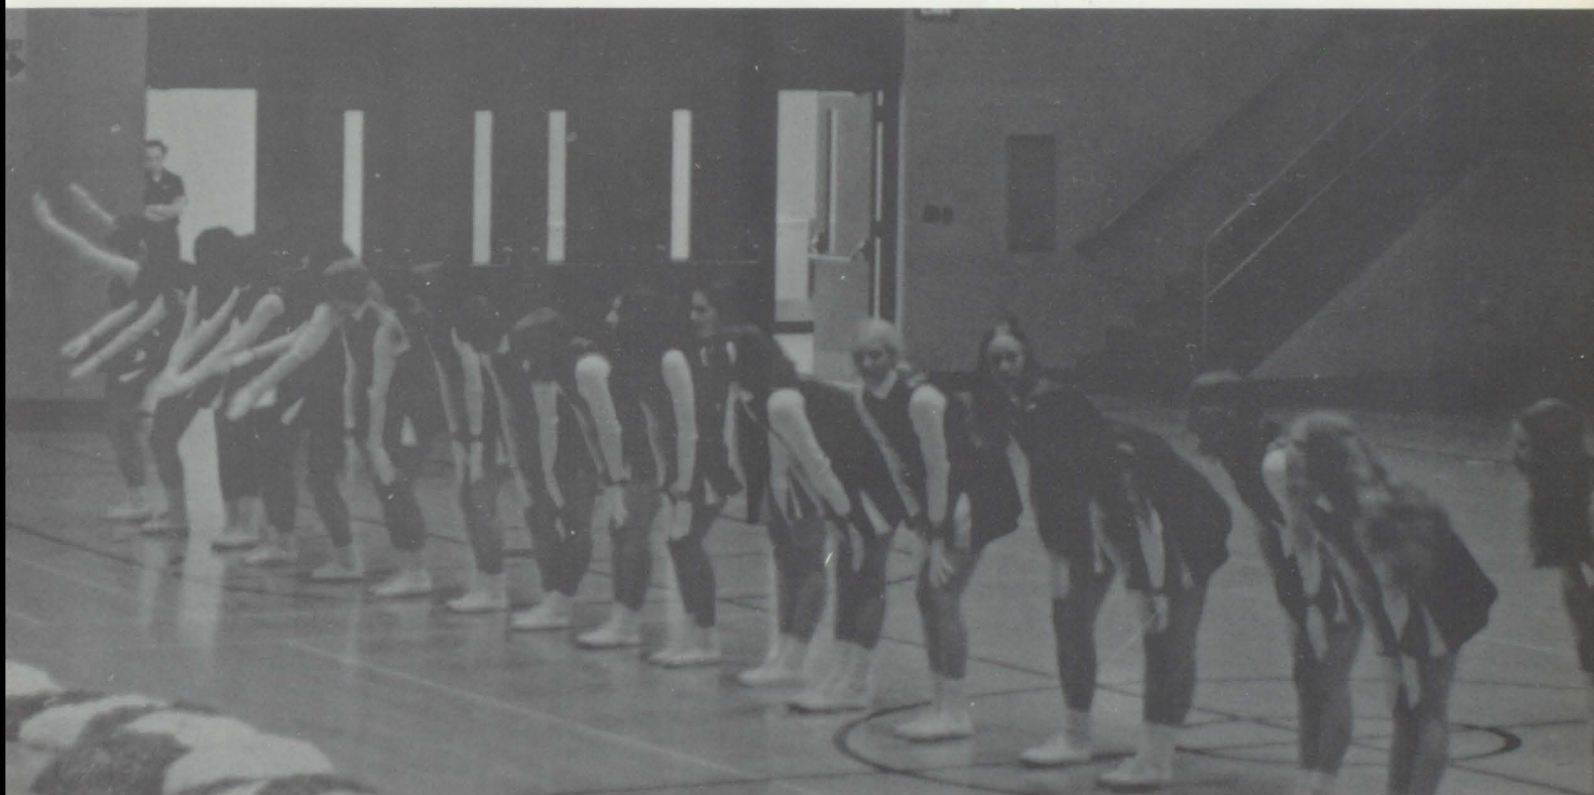

The Gymnastics Fantastics was an assembly sponsored by the Yearbook staff.

Another equally entertaining event was the Warriorettes' annual concert. Held in the evening so that parents and other family members may attend, the concert was also popular with the students.

The concert allowed the Warriorettes to show to their full extent their talents and originality. The girls performed various routines and dances, many of which are often created by the Warriorettes themselves or by their sponsor, Miss Robyn Payne.

Successful Prom held At Ramada Inn

The annual Junior-Senior Prom, sponsored by the Junior Class, was held May 10 at the Ramada Inn in Dalton, Illinois.

Always popular, this year's Prom attracted 133 couples. The theme was "Sharing Precious Moments".

Boom ... Boom ... Boom ... Boom

Boom—as in boom ... boom, as in tra-la-la-boom-de-ay, as in bis-boom-bah as in the school spirit that every student supposedly should possess. There is more to clubs than that oft repeated cliché or “spirit” and they should not be underrated and insulted in such a demeaning manner. Clubs and organizations perform a vital function that no other facet of a school’s life is capable of fulfilling. It is in clubs that people with the same interests can meet and share past experiences and plan together future schemes.

Communications and discussions are the most important factors that any organization can hope to accomplish. Clubs provide an outlet for student inter-action, an opportunity to get involved in school activities. They allow students to work with one another and communicate and discover the personalizTies of their fellow classmates.

A need for dialogue receives attention in the organization atmosphere.

Q and S quiz Results in tie

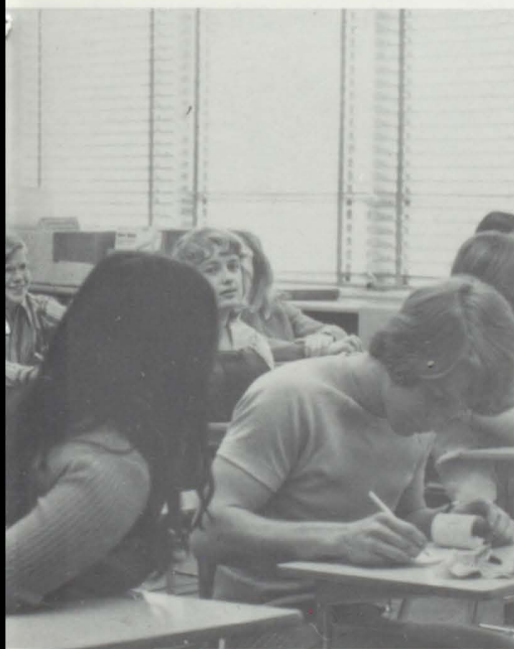

A tie was the result of the Quill and Scroll Current Events Test during the 1974-75 school year. Albert Eaton, junior and Dan Winter, junior, posted the highest score out of the 57 students that were administered the test.

The current event quiz, sponsored by the Calumet chapter of journalism honorary, was given to all second year journalism students and students enrolled in CHS current events classes.

The honorary sponsors the quiz annually as it's major project of the school year.

New members are inducted into the high school journalism honorary at the beginning and semester of each academic school year.

Homecoming

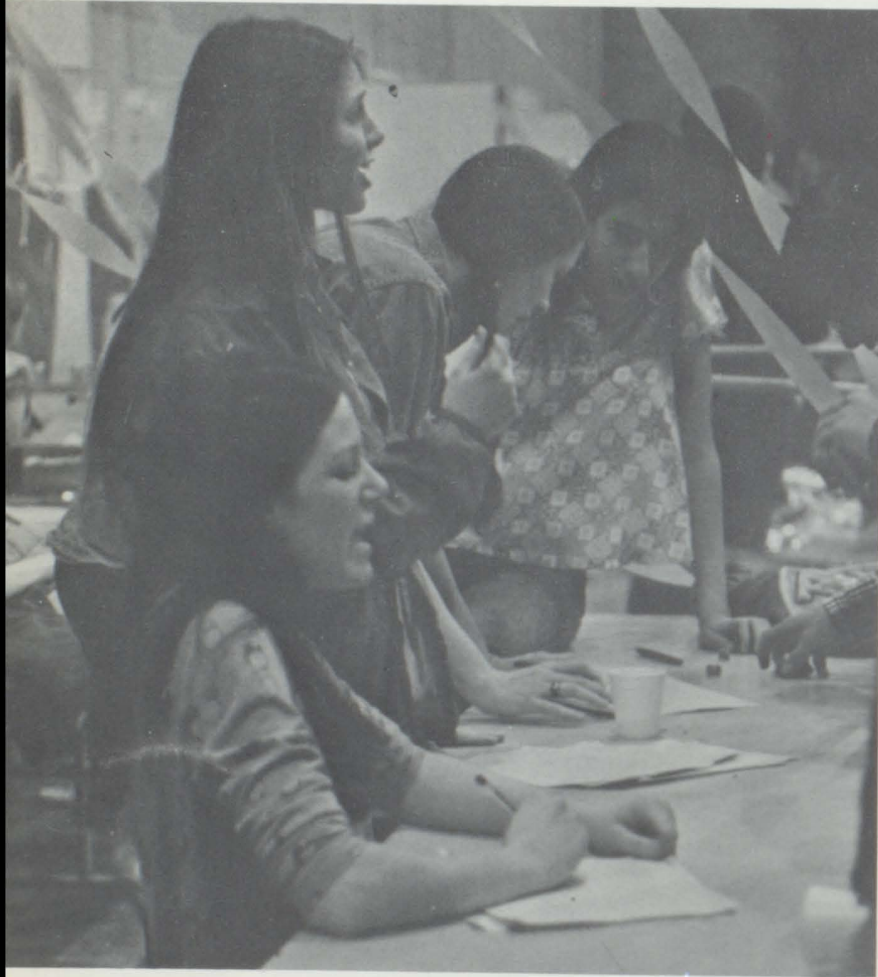

Activities

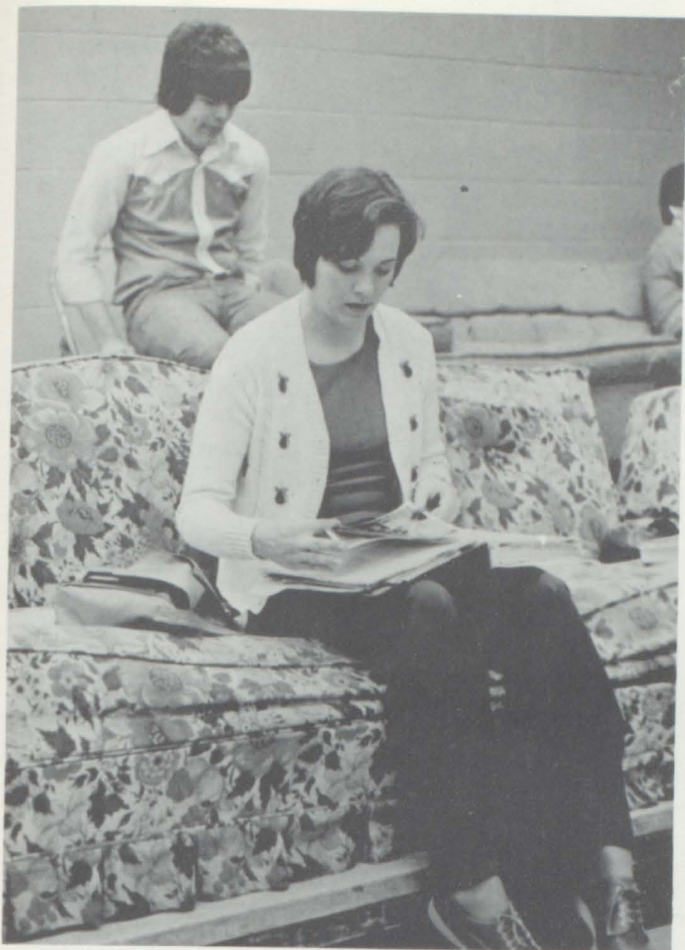

Sponsoring activities such as Homecoming, Mardi Gras, Talent Show and Cinema Movies, the Student Council saw a hectic school year.

The council had to alter its previous homecoming events due to the construction on the CHS gridiron.

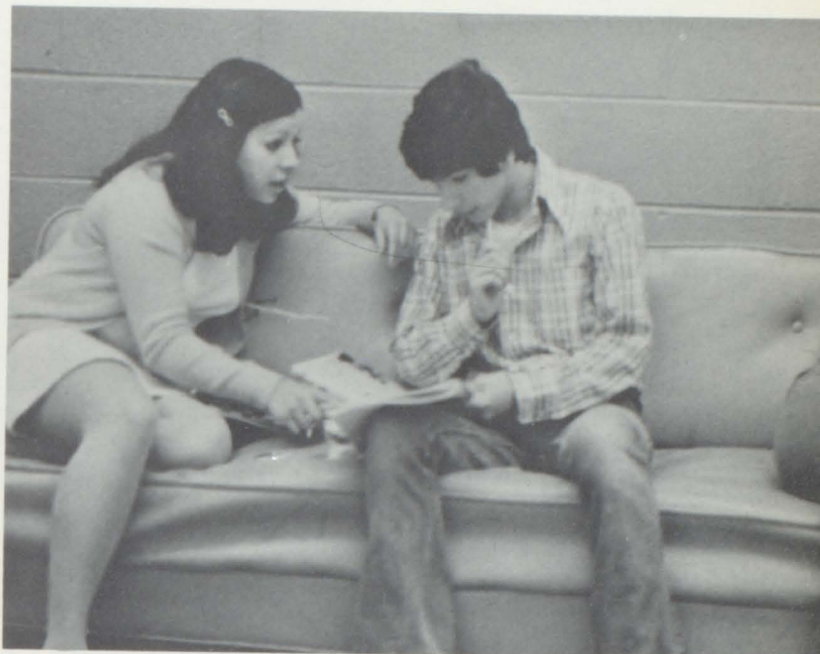

Mardi Gras, an annual council activity, was held during the winter to raise funds for charities and organizations in the school.

"Thrust," a band comprised of CHS students won the council's annual talent show on April 18. Proceeds from the activity were used to send council members to a summer workshop.

Calumet High School's Students rebel Against principal's transfer

Approximately 300 students at Calumet High School marched to the Lake Ridge superintendent's building on the morning of March 19 to protest the transfer of former principal, Mr. Tom Dakich.

The walkout touched off a three day protest by CHS students. The students were requesting reasons for the transfer.

Mr. Herbert F. Abramson, superintendent of the Lake Ridge Schools, cited two main reasons for the transfer. According to the officials, "differences in philosophies of teaching" and "an insensitiveness to the school board and the needs of the administration" were reasons for the change.

However, students unsatisfied with these answers, continued the protest.

CHS faculty members were not in their classrooms on Friday, March 21. The educators were called off on a personal leave of absence.

Mr. George Fisher, lawyer for the teachers union, announced that the faculty members were not protesting the transfer itself, but the manner in which it was carried out.

According to Mr. Fisher, the position vacated in the administrative transfer should have been posted for two weeks to enable qualified applicants in the school system and throughout the state the opportunity to apply.

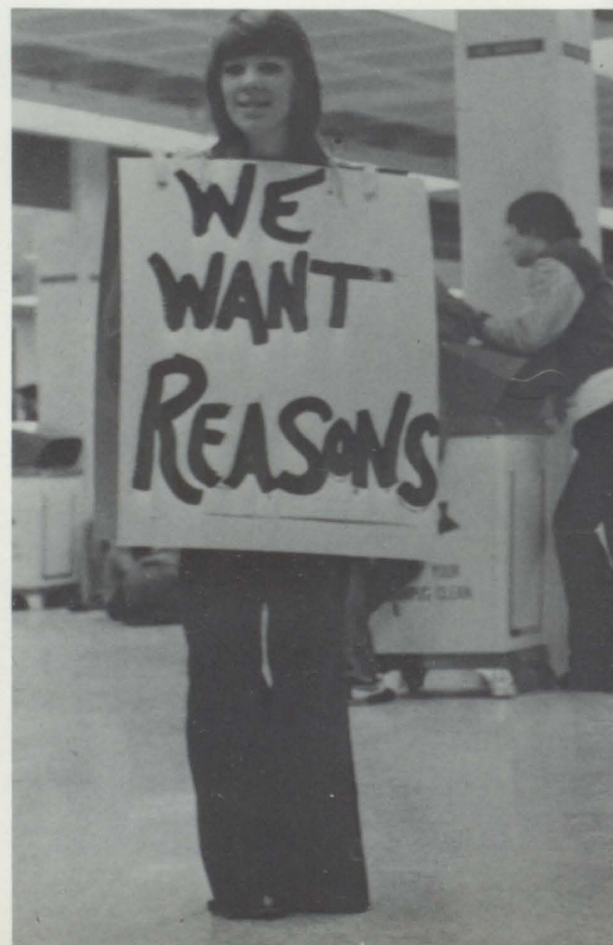

Mr. Robert Joseph, former principal of Lake Junior High was appointed to the high school principalship immediately following Dakich's transfer.

Friday, March 21 the superintendent and a number of school board members attended a meeting with a special student committee of nine to discuss the reasons for the transfer and if possible put an end to the protest.

Following the four hour meeting, the students held a conference with Mr. Dakich.

During that meeting Mr. Dakich told the committee that he "wished the students and parents to end the protest and return to their normal activities."

Upon request by Mr. Dakich, the protest came to a halt on March 21. Students returned to their classrooms the regular daily routine of school.

Renee Bass, senior, submitted the following copy to the Chief-tain. It is the reaction of one student at CHS.

March, 1975, brought the transfer of Mr. Dakich our principal at Calumet High School. The reaction to his transfer was either of great protest or complete apathy. Mr. Dakich was and still is a great man to many of us. He listened, he laughed, and he cared, but who needs a principal who is also your friend? We all do, as many of us realized after he was gone ... Thanks, Mr. Dakich. Remember: You are loved!

Spanish Club Explores Culture At Field Museum

Seventeen Pan Am students visited the Chicago Field Museum during the 1974-75 school year.

The Spanish language students viewed rooms of Central and South American exhibits. Also on display were artifacts from Mexico and Spain.

The Museum outing was an opportunity for students to become acquainted with the civilization and culture in these parts of the world.

Students with varying religious beliefs came together this fall to form the Bible Rap Club. The group was comprised of students from a number of different religious affiliations. Completing their first year, the organization was quite successful. The club was aponsored by Mr. George Alhgrim, CHS faculty member.

Eight organization members attempted to reproduce the common household items in a formula manual.

The project proved a practical exercise in the metric and English system of measurements. The students were required to convert from one system to the other while producing the commodities.

"Warrior" staff increases production of newspaper

"Warrior" newspaper staff increased their size following the beginning of second semester in 1975.

The 23 member group produced the bi-weekly publication with the assistance of "Calumet Press".

Kelly Cleary, junior, served as editor of the school publication. The junior attended Ball State University's journalism workshop during the summer months. Dave Hubinger, junior, held the post of managing editor for the "Warrior."

The "Interior," a news magazine insert had a short-lived future at CHS. The publication, after three issues, was disbanded because of financial problems.

Tammy Porter, sophomore, was selected in the spring to serve as Editor-in-chief during the coming year.

Publicity problems plagued the News Bureau Staff during their first year in operation.

The seven member staff worked during the school year to prepare articles for the "Compass," "Post-Tribune," and the "Hammond Times" newspapers.

Judy Hollifield, junior, served as Bureau Chief and will head the staff next year.

The Bureau operated out of Room 211 during sixth hour. However, the staff plans to handle the assignment during one of the beginning journalism classes next year.

Cannonsburg, Michigan was the site of the Ski Club's annual trip in February.

Approximately 36 Calumet High School students hit the slopes and were lodged at a ski resort located north of Grand Rapids.

Skiers took advantage of the night entertainment in the resort area. Dancing, dining and indoor swimming were some of the non-snow activities pursued by CHS students. The trip proved to be successful.

Staff celebrates 50th yearbook

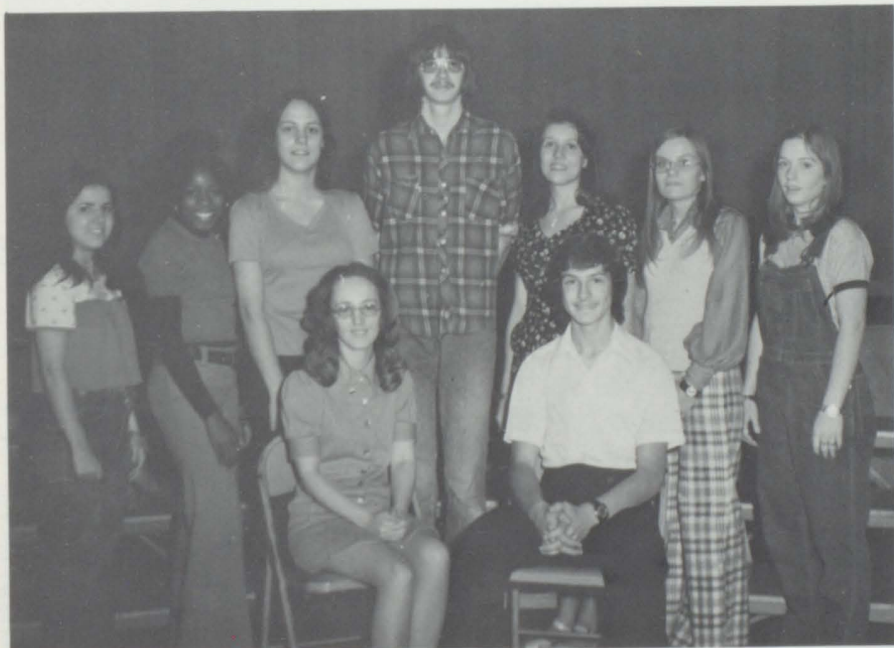

Yearbook staff members sponsored several assemblies during the 1975 school year to raise money for the '75 CHIEFTAIN. Due to the slow economy, the staff found it difficult to sell advertising during the year.

CHIEFTAIN members wished to express appreciation to the following people who helped the staff throughout the year in the production of the book. MR. JOHN TSANGARIS assisted the staff in selling advertising for the book.

KELLY CLEARY, "Warrior" editor, printed and developed several photos for the book. MR. TOM DAKICH and MR. MIKE VASS helped the staff to schedule assemblies and photographs for the '75 book.

Other individuals that contributed to the book were: MISS PAULINE YATSKO, the office secretary and bookkeeper, the Calumet faculty members and coaches, MRS. NORMA HYNDMAN and RICHARD MOORE, staff member who sold the most advertising in the yearbook.

Actors perform

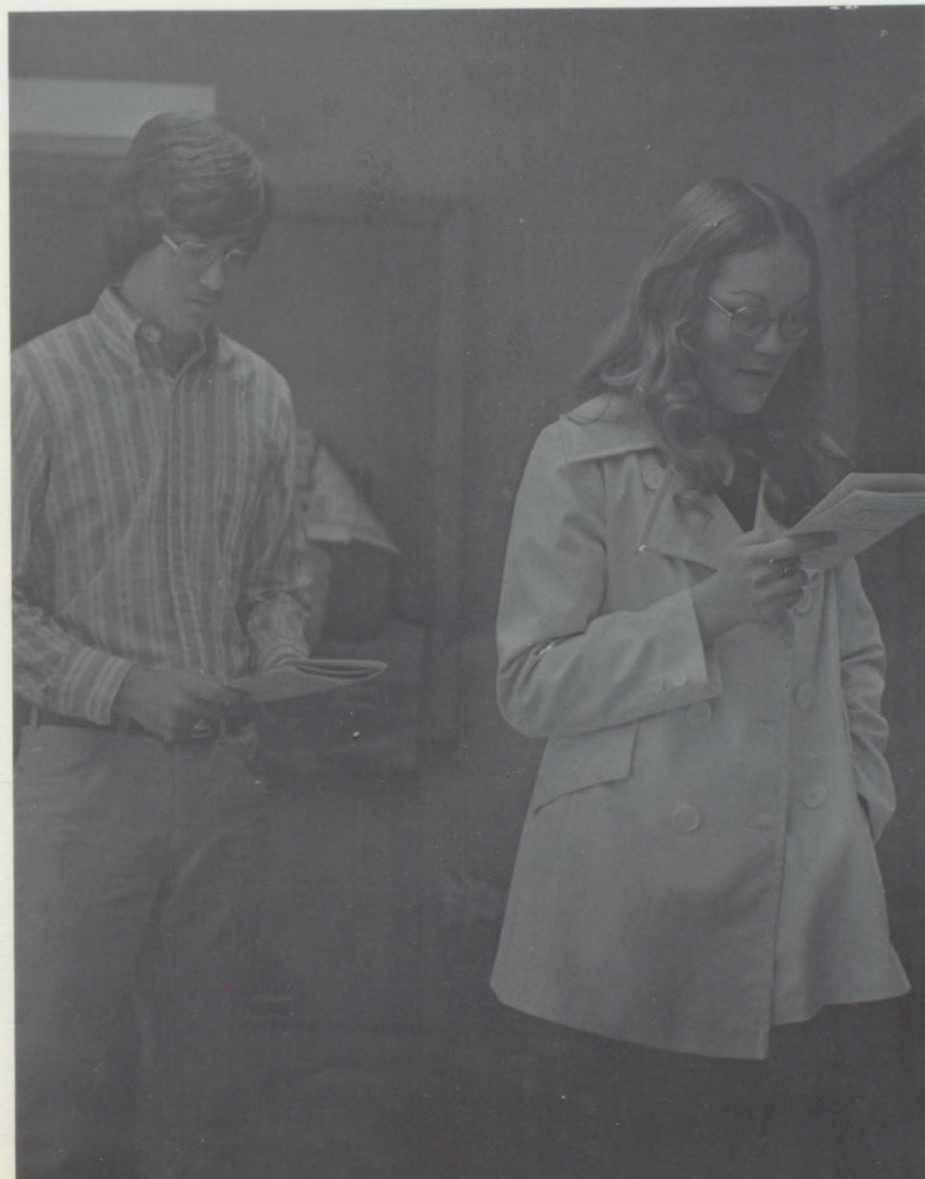

Drama, a perennial favorite whether professional or amateur, is the main factor involved in the Calumet Players, CHS's Drama Club.

Sponsored by Mr. Paul Borlick, Calumet players is open to any junior or senior interested in becoming involved in the acting and producing of a play.

The members themselves, with the assistance of Mr. Borlick, choose a play, hold try-outs, and begin actual rehearsal. Those members who are not in the cast work behind the scenes, directing with the production, working on such activities as script person, props finder, and prompter.

During the 1974-75 school year, Calumet players presented one play—"True Blue and Trusted," a melodrama.

Teens sponsor Charities

Three of Calumet's organizations were very busy during this school year.

C-Teens visited the Lake County Convalescent Home during the Christmas Season and again near Easter. On both occasions, they entertained them and brought them a Christmas and Easter tree.

DECA sponsored an employer-employee banquet and OEA was responsible for such varied activities as a spaghetti supper, faculty Christmas party, regional, state, and national conference, candy sales, and the making of distinctive green and yellow jumpers for its members.

Clubs view "Types of ills"

Two organizations at Calumet dealt in the areas of health. One club seeks answers to social problems, the other addresses its action to physical ills. Both are concerned with the physical and social stability of individuals. Human Relations Club met during the year to discuss personal inter-action among differing people.

Health Occupations (H.O.) participated in many projects during 1975 in the area of health care.

Chess makes A move

Calumet High School Pinochle Club found its "trump" card during the 1975 school year. The organization met on A schedule and Mr. Myron Benjamin served as sponsor for the organization.

The card club spent the organization periods studying the intricacies of the special game.

Chess Club also met on the A club schedule during the school year. The organization met in Mr. Randy Harkabus' room to pursue their interest in chess.

Cheerleading Rolls on

"C-A-L-U-M-E-T . . . " Lungs must be strong for the business of cheering.

Varsity Cheerleaders at Calumet High seem to find themselves busy, Cheerleading is a year round job. Summer, the girls attend camp; Fall, they spend time preparing for football season; Winter, basketball rolls around and cheers are put together for this event; Spring they start getting ready for tryouts.

Renee Bass, Kathi Chakos, Patty Elizondo, Rose King and Janet Novoa began their busy year at summer camp compiling a good ribbon record.

They were present at Warrior football and basketball games during the year cheering for team victories.

Warriorettes

Show Spirit

Pom Pon action was in full Swing this year as Calumet High kicked to numerous routines.

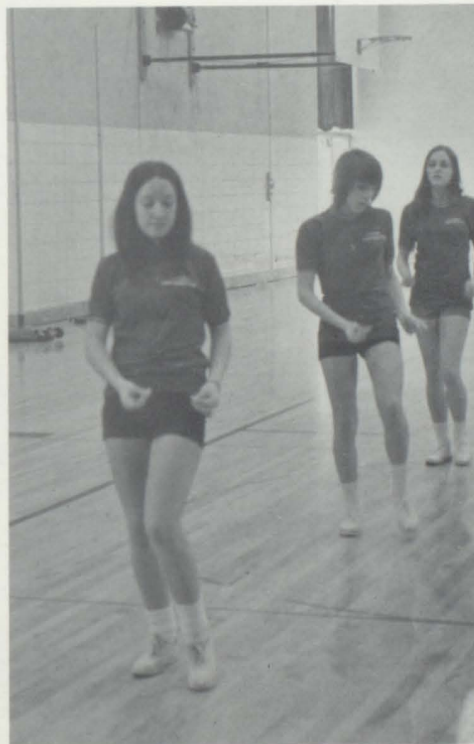

Their successful season began at camp where they captured a first ribbon for a routine.

The 32 members appeared at football Homecoming and on the Warrior court during basketball season.

One of the many activities in which the group participates is an area parade. In December the Warriorettes welcome Santa Claus to a local shopping center. Also the members presented a Concert during the month of April.

The organization purchased new sweaters during the school year.

Plans for the coming year include a return to summer camp.

Band performs At "Blossom Time"

Symbols crashing, the Calumet Band had a busy year in 1975. The organization traveled to Benton Harbor, Michigan in the spring to participate in the annual "Blossom Time" parade.

The Band collected money on Tag Day, marched at the Village Christmas Parade and performed at football and basketball games.

Concerts were included in the group's yearly activities. They were held at Christmas and in April.

Members of the group played for the Parent-Teacher Council (PTC) in May and at commencement exercises in June.

Concerts part of choir activities

Two concerts were presented by Calumet High School's Acapella Chorus during the 1974-75 school year.

Under the direction of Mr. Dan Gresh, the chorus performed before the student body on November 7. They were accompanied by Glenn Nelson and Jerry Solon, seniors, on guitar and drums.

The second concert was March 10. It was presented in the evening, under the direction of Mrs. Jeanette Callender.

Featured in the program were Gloria Diaz singing "I Don't Know How To Love Him," Renee Jones with "The Sweetest Sounds," Greg Elkins' arrangement of "Everything Is Beautiful," and a piano solo by Mauricy Martin. All of these performers were seniors.

Crunch . . . Crunch . . . Crunch . . . Crunch

The most widely known and perhaps least understood phase of a student's involvement in school is sports. Without question, it is the most obvious, publicized and best attended diversion of secondary education. Athletic prowess and success are often showered on the student body.

The old adage indicates—it does not matter if you win or lose—but there is more to athletics than just a win or loss.

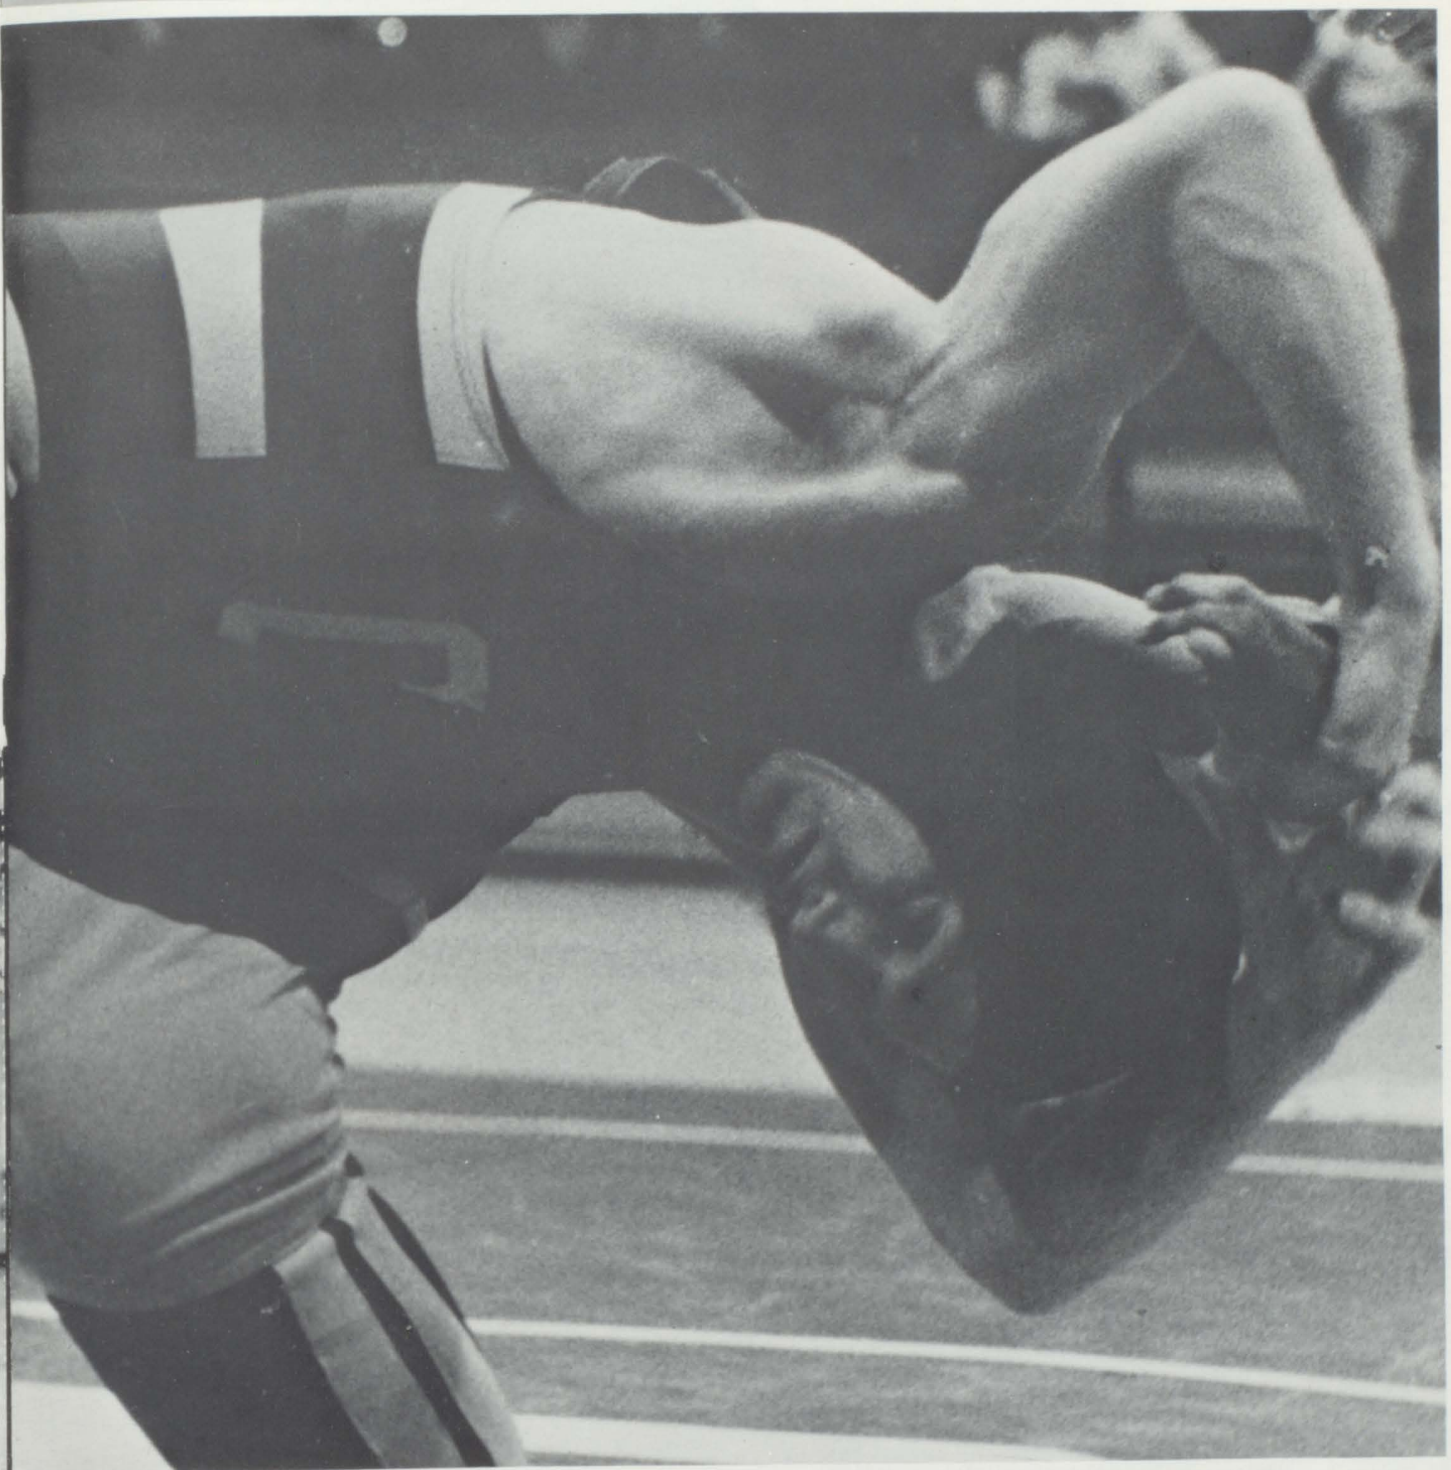

Whether a win or loss, communication centers around the athlete. One can only guess about the private dialogue that an athlete carries on with himself. That personal communication that allows him to run one mile more or just one second faster. That extra effort that he brings to the arena for his teammates and his personal self-satisfaction remain his thoughts alone.

When he encounters teammates, coaches and adversaries, the player mutters, mumbles, enunciates, declares, utters, exclaims and proves that in sports, too, "a need for dialogue" does exist.

Rabon Hinkle, defensive lineman for the Calumet Warriors, cited reasons for the Warriors' wins and losses during the football season.

Strong runningbacks were the key for the Bishop Noll win over Calumet. The Warriors suffered first game jitters and the team was not up for the game.

A strong defense and the use of the wishbone pattern figured in the Calumet victory over River Forest.

The loss to Lowell was attributed to the fact that Calumet's defense and offense was weak.

A team effort was the reason for the Calumet victory over East Gary.

Griffith defeated Calumet because the Panthers were up more than the Warriors for the game.

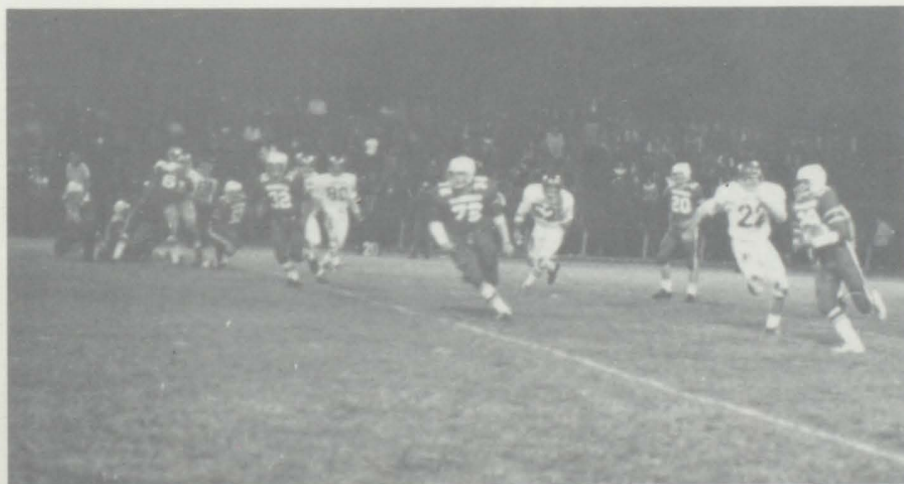

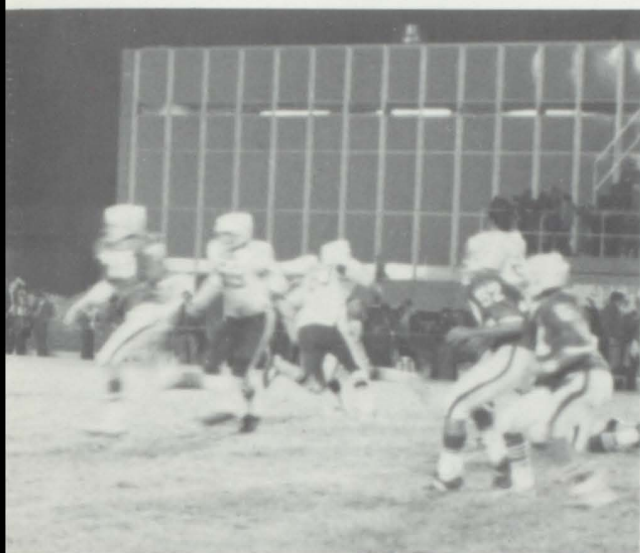

A Calumet offense which functioned only part of the game was the reason behind a Highland win over the Warriors.

A Pirates' defense which was stronger than the Warriors' accounted for a Merrillville win over Calumet.

Another team effort saw the Lake Central Indians lose to the Calumet Warriors.

Rabon said, "Mr. Trcka has a good sense of football. He knows what he is doing. He has good ideas. He is a good coach and has a good coaching staff."

Harriers capture Third honors In LS Conference

Junior Dan Jewell has been on Calumet's cross-country team for two years. His practices last about an hour. The practices are different at various times of the year. In the beginning, he ran interval training which consists of sixteen 440's and ten 660's. This training is for conditioning and speed work. Later in the season, he ran middle distance which is comprised of ten 880's and over distance which is three 2½ milers to stay in peak form.

The strength of Calumet's team may lie in the fact that it has a good coaching staff. Perhaps the team's weakness was due to a loss of the runners from the year before. Also Malcom Rumba, Calumet's top runner, suffered an injury near the end of the season.

"Munster, Bishop Noll and La Porte gave Calumet good competition because they are pretty evenly matched. We liked running these teams, since it makes you want to put out more and beat them which feels like an accomplishment", said Dan.

Referring to Coach Traicoff, Dan said, "He's fantastic. His excellent leadership keeps the team together and holds up morale."

CHS golf team

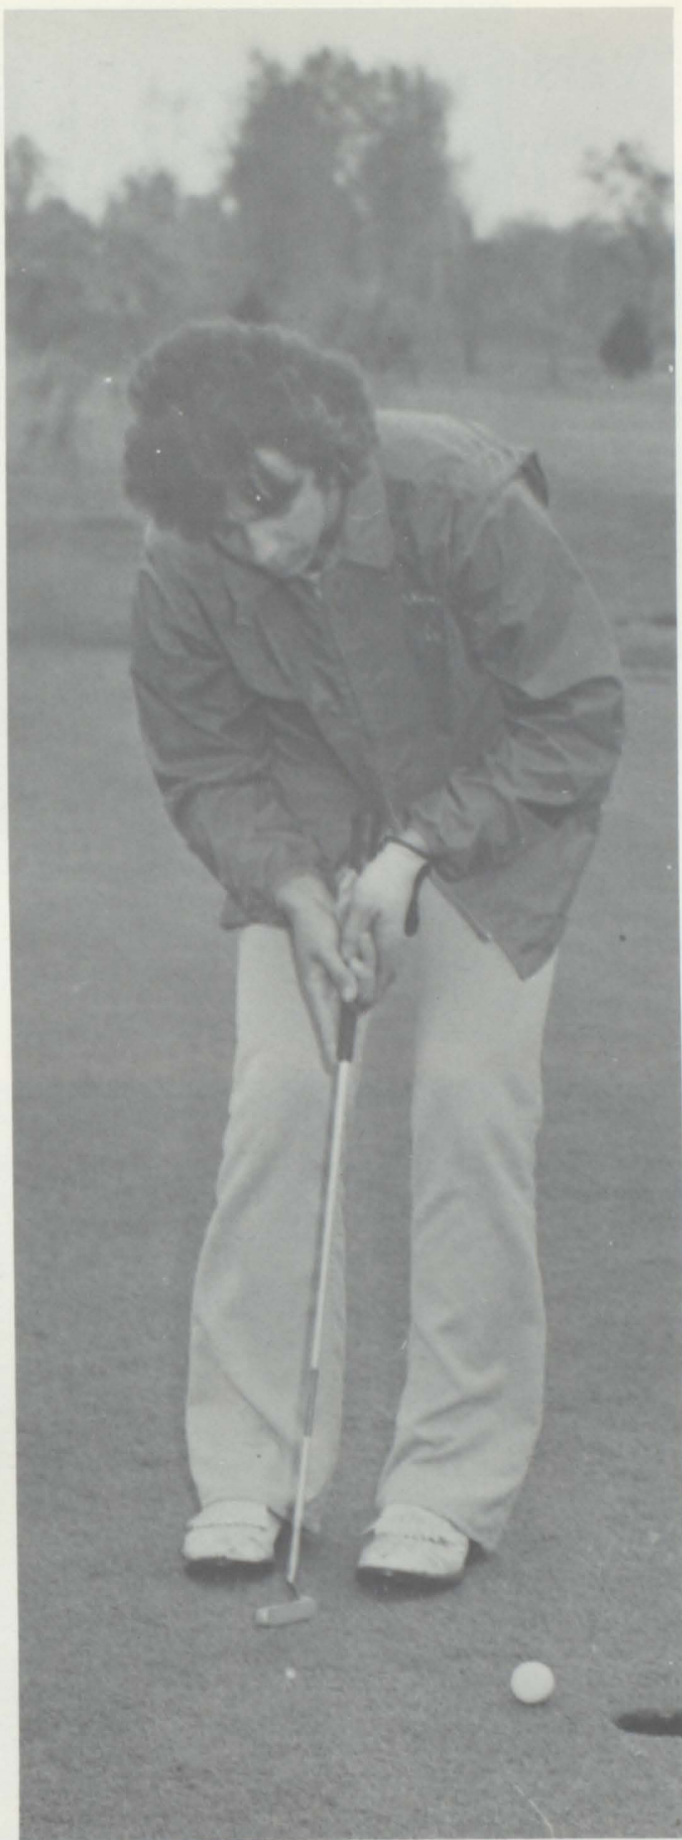

Drives for improvement

Junior Mike McGee gave some interesting insight into CHS's golf team. Mike, a varsity golfer, said that the things most needed for golf are good concentration, being relaxed and a solid meeting of the ball. Mike said, "Calumet's best quality is that they can hit the long ball. Our biggest fault is in our short game around the green. The short game is hard in the first place for most people because putting and chipping is a delicate art." During practices, the team talked about different shots, what clubs should be used for different shots, and what way a putt would break. Comparing CHS to other schools, Mike said, "We haven't been scoring too well but we have the potential to be right up there with the other schools in the Lake Suburban Conference. Mike hopes that next year Calumet's golf team will have a good season. He knows that Mr. Alvarez has tried to help the team but the lack of concentration held the team back.

The girls' track team took fourth place in the Maroon Division in the Chesterton Invitational. In the Conference Track Meet, they finished fifth. Their conference season record was zero and six.

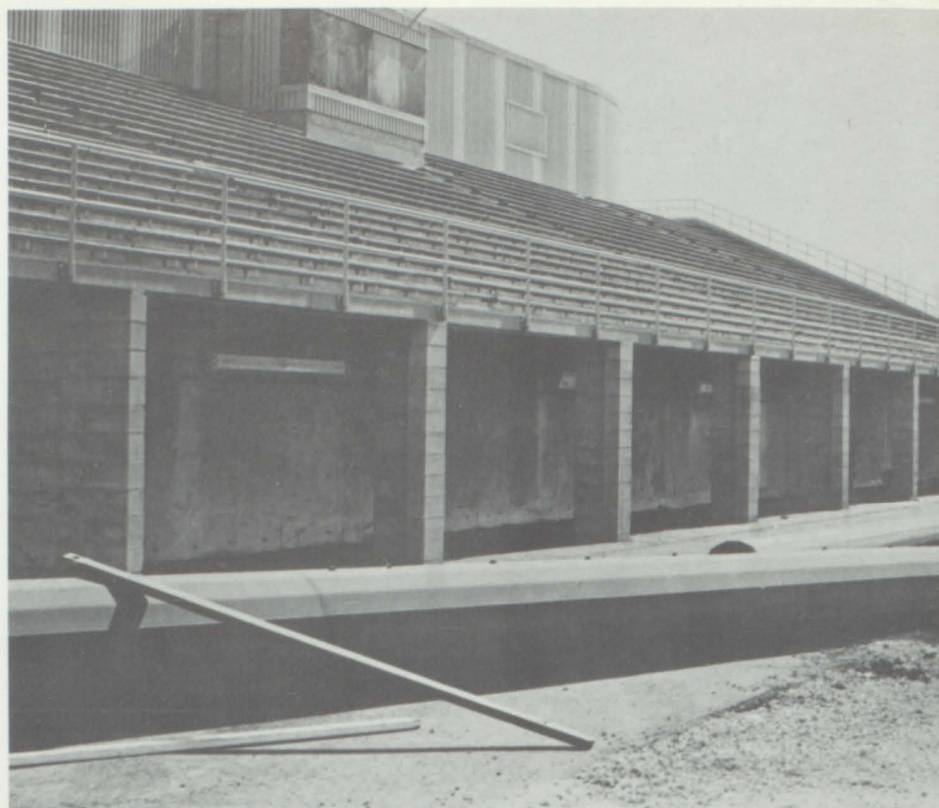

The team had two girls qualify for the regionals. One of the two was junior Jan Ragsdale. She qualified in the hurdles and long jump. She was the Sectional champion in hurdles. Jan was also All-Conference champion in the 80 yard hurdles with a time of 11.6 seconds and in the long jump with a distance of 16 feet and 3 inches. The other qualifier was Sonya Heresz, junior, in the 220 yard dash.

The slam of a locker, haphazardly grabbing books and papers, the mad rush before the second bell, seeing friends and exchanging the very briefest greeting of "hi" amid the frenzy and turmoil which will soon subside after the sounding of the traditional warning signal—the bell. And in the class room itself, a new atmosphere is present. The chattering and whispers and half-suppressed laughter and giggles of the students. A teacher enters into the scene. Once in control, it's usually mundane often boring, but sometimes the unique and unusual happens, compensating for all the frustrations of the past. This one vibrant and electrifying individual can turn the dulllest subject into the most longed for hour of the day. The discussions will be equally memorizing-going past the stage of mere requirements, breaking the sometimes rigid student-teacher barrier, reaching the student at a most personal level, encompassing all with this level of dialogue and its almost hidden depths.

Reader's rate

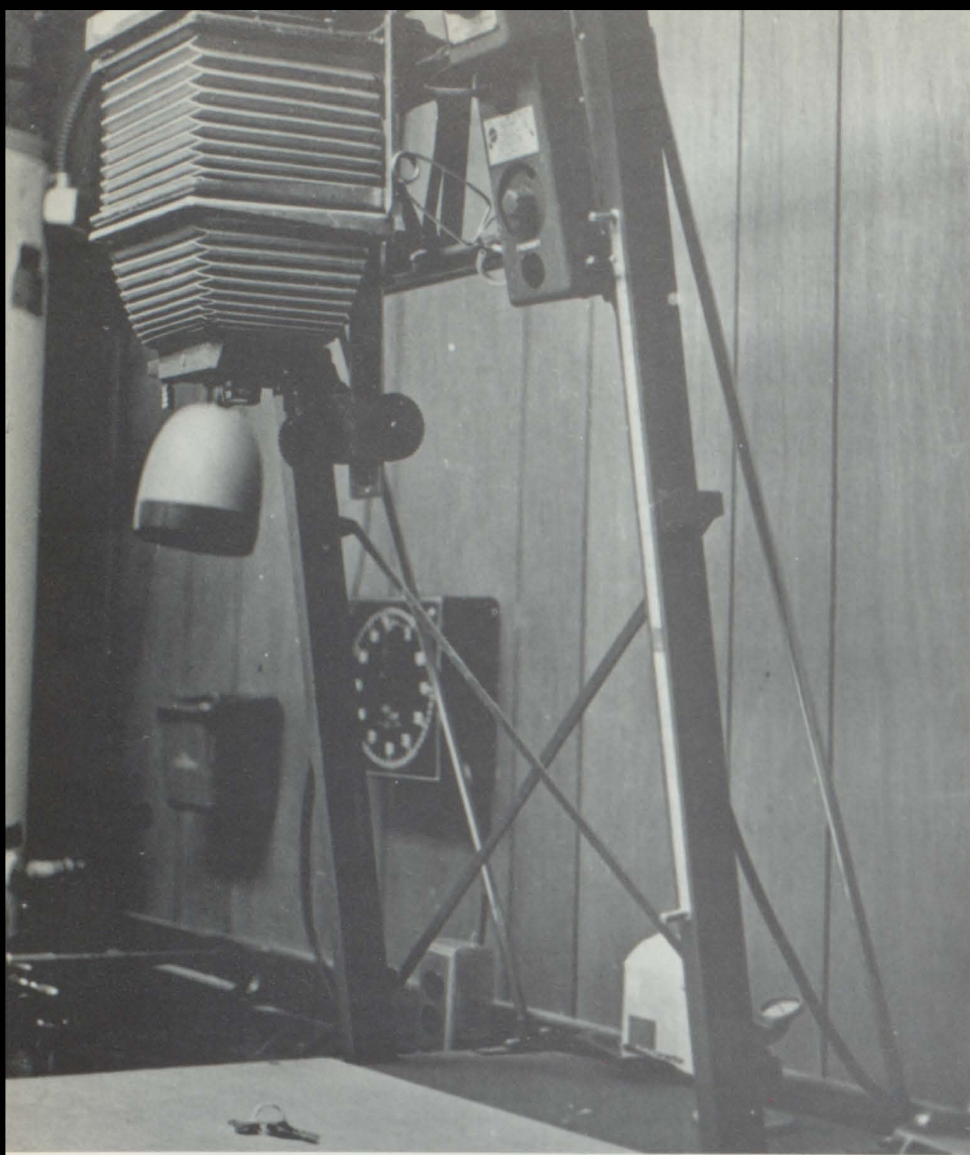

Up 230 wpm

Speed Reading, a new mini course instituted in the fall of 1974, was successful in its efforts to increase the pupil's reading rate and comprehension during the year.

At the beginning of the course, the average student read at only 270 words per minute. A 58 per cent gain was made during the nine week period. Following the completion of the course, the average rate was 500 words per minute and the comprehension rate increased or remained the same.

Materials used in the course were designed to be utilized with reading machines. These materials consisted of speed drill exercises used in finding the main idea, vocabulary building, and scanning practice which helped the student to look for specific items.

CHS Innovations Instituted In 1975

Academic life at Calumet span everything from the study of the culture of a particular era to the physical utilization of classroom equipment.

Mini courses helped to open up the "average" classroom situation and to encompass areas both entertaining and informative outside of the room's four walls. Courses like the "Roaring 20's" provided students with the opportunity to say, "Joe sent me!" They danced to the "Charleston" and learned the "down on your heels, and up on your toes" could be as difficult as today's modern dances.

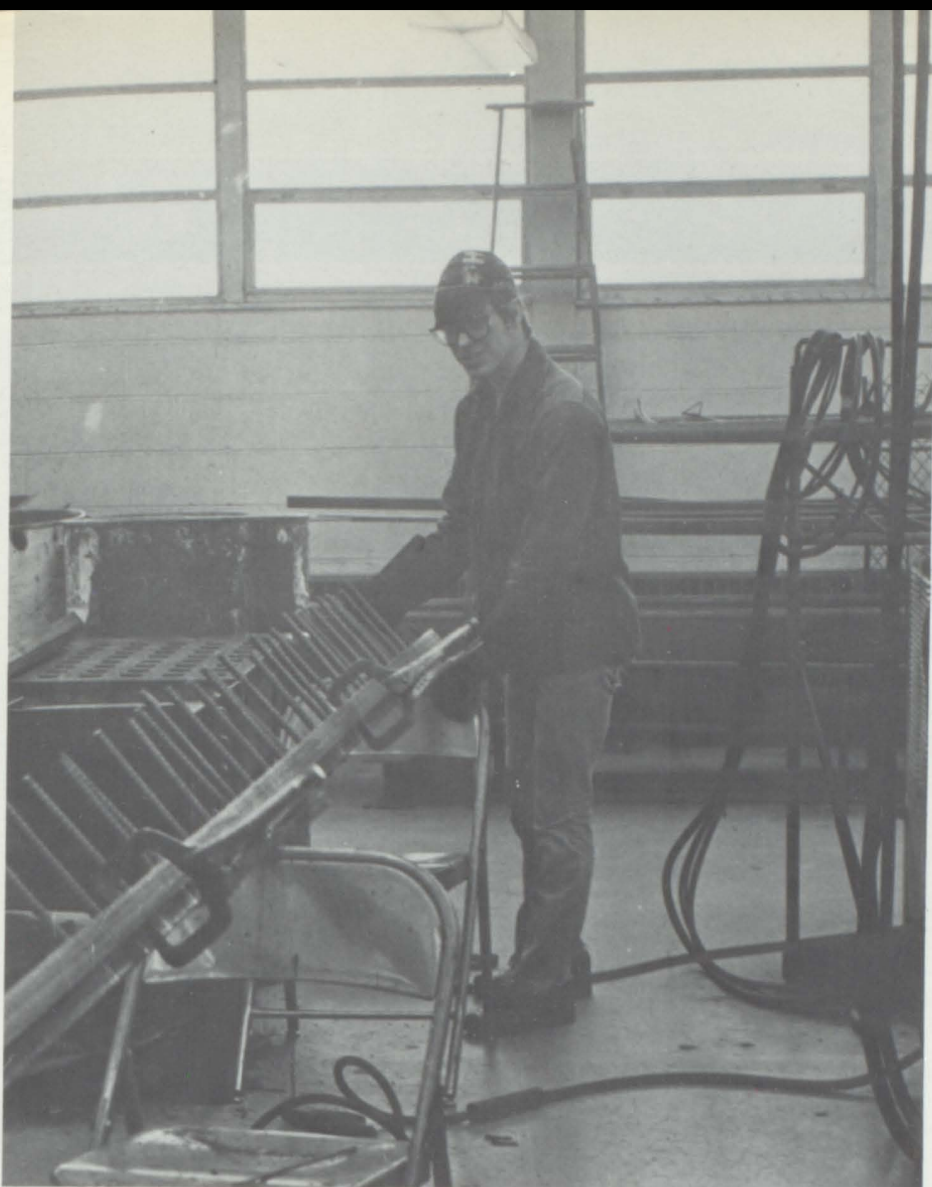

Equipment in the library and aids for the classrooms were available to CHS'ers to pursue other academic interests.

Trailer provides Practical training

A dual wheeled utility trailer was one of the major projects of the Calumet welding shop during the school year.

The vocational students, involved in the project, constructed the structure from materials donated to the class. The trailer was put into service during the month of March.

The trailer was used by the Calumet Fieldhouse maintenance staff throughout the remainder of the school year.

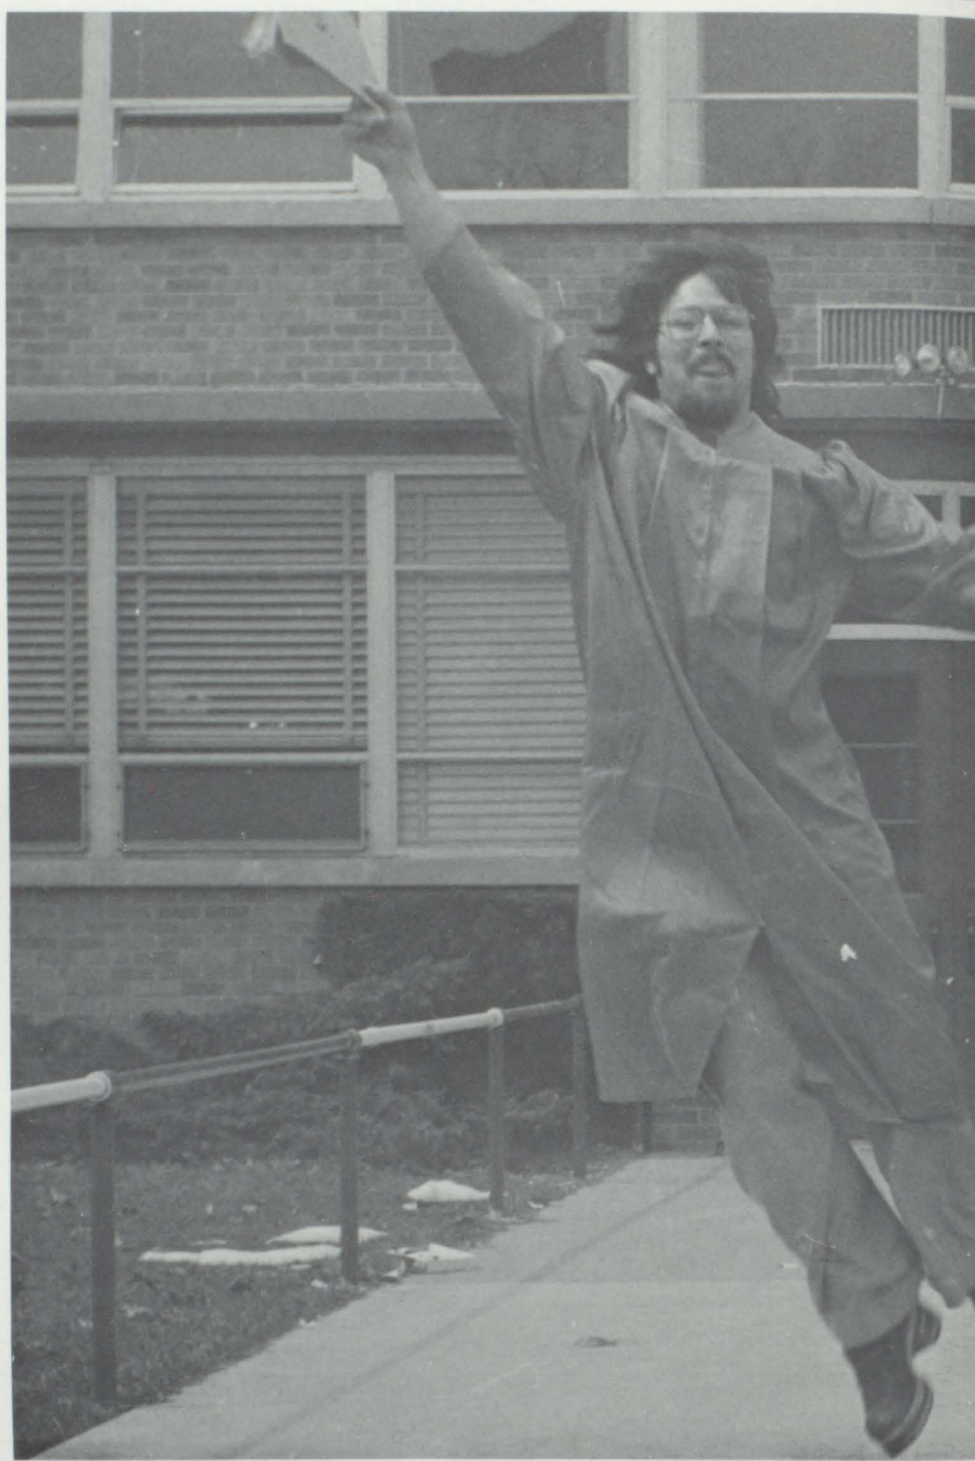

Graphic Arts included a new face in the 1975 year. Mr. Len Mustari, instructor, came to the Calumet post in September.

"Smile at the camera," "Hold that pose," "Look at my big nose, beautiful," "Pick your head up just a little bit—that's it," "I'm sorry, little lady, but if you want to wear your glasses, I'm gonna have to contort your body." Phrases we have heard countless times, since our childhood continuing to the present. Now—Photo Day. The conversation of soon to be immortalized people, some worried and anxious, practicing their smiles over and over, continually asking their friends "how does this look?" And others, self-assured, serene in the knowledge that they're beautiful or at least think so, reassuring their less secure companions. And then the talk between students waiting in line, overhearing someone's discussion—dropping a few words and sometimes even a smile or two. Finally, there's the photographer, always prepared with those little gems of annoyance, forever using the same pleasantries, as if learned by rote, along with his other chit chat, yet all adding to the general atmosphere of dialogue in the school.

Staffs Face new Changes

Several changes occurred at Calumet High School during the 1974-75 school year.

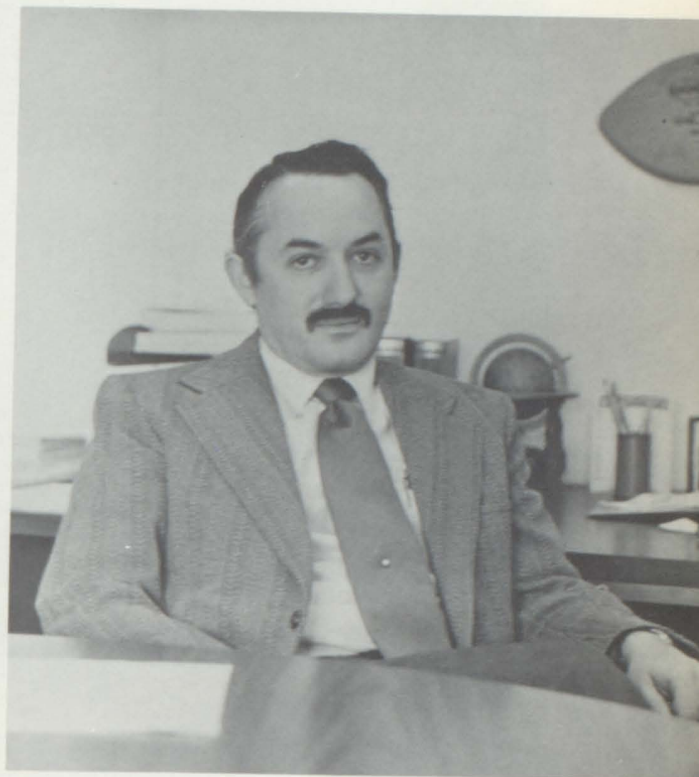

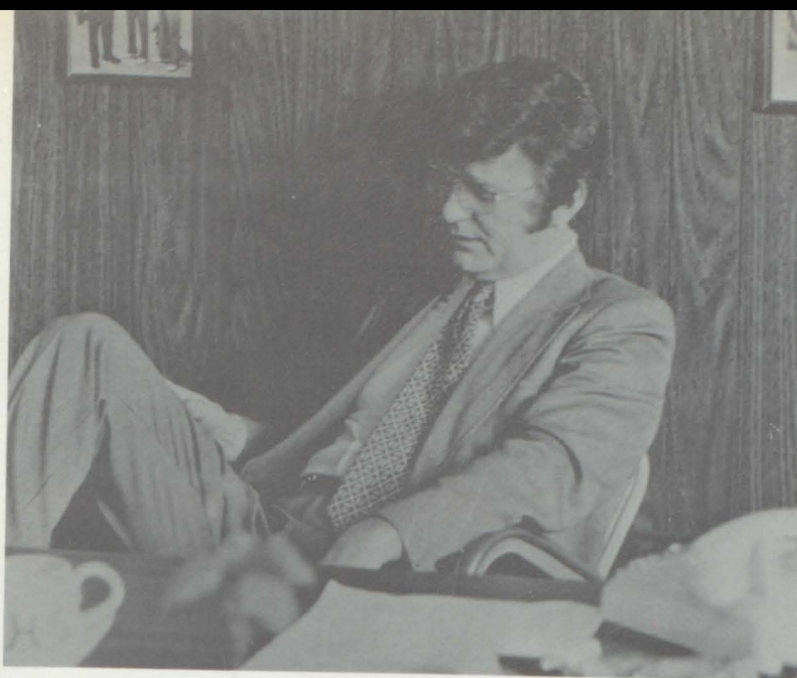

The traditional lunch pattern has now become diversified. Besides the usual school lunch, the students were given the opportunity to make use of the new A La Carte line, where such varied items as sandwiches, cookies, soup, pretzels, assorted desserts and milkshakes could be purchased. The number of students buying lunch at school has greatly increased since the acquisition of this facility.

In an attempt to discourage "ditching," the ISL (Independent Study Lab) was established. If caught ditching, the student was no longer suspended from classes and allowed to stay home. This year the student was required to spend the amount of time in ISL. Here the student must be accompanied by work for the day. Students were not allowed to take part in assemblies while in ISL.

A busy year For office Personnel

Typewriter keys click, coins jingle and thermometers pop in and out of students' mouths. Calumet High School's office personnel spent the school year engaging in such activities.

Three office secretaries handled school communications throughout the school year. They were not only Girl Fridays, but also Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Also on hand in the office area to carry out various functions were a school bookkeeper and a nurse.

The office was perhaps the busiest areas in the building during the 1974-75 school year.

Seniors find out Last year is best

Seniors began a hectic school year with senior pictures taken at Spasoff Studio during the summer months. The percentage of seniors having their photograph taken for the school yearbook was higher than in the past few years.

Academically, Government and Economics classes were the order of the day for hopeful graduates. Career Day was perhaps of special interest to Calumet seniors, as they gave thought to future occupations for colleges and universities, far and wide, were submitted by some students during their senior year.

Winter and spring months were filled with ordering announcements and caps and gowns for commencement.

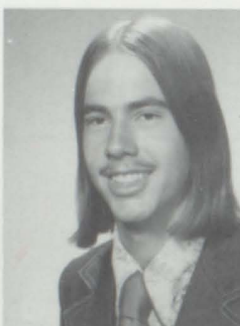

During Easter vacation, approximately 46 seniors attended the senior class trip to the Bahamas. The trip was full of excitement. It lasted seven days and six nights.

The seniors of CHS graduated on May 28. Awards were presented and final good-byes were said.

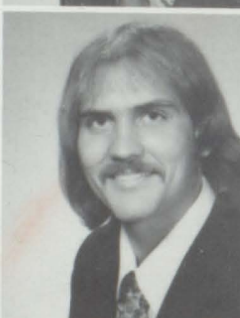

Class officers for the '75 graduates were: Bob Symanski, president; Annette Patterson, Vice-president; Patricia Elizando, secretary and Kathi Chakos, treasurer.

Juniors participate Also at CHS

Many juniors managed to squeeze a great deal into a single school year. Aside from the Junior-Senior Prom, which is a major activity of the class, juniors were represented in several events during the school year.

The prom was held at the Ramada Inn in Dalton, Illinois on May 10. Alonzo Muro and Dara Thruel serves as co-chairman of the annual affair.

The girl's junior Powder Puff team managed to obtain a tie in the annual Homecoming event held during Spirit Week.

Juniors became aware that college was not something thought about only during one's senior year. College-bound class members were scheduled to take their SAT test during the school year.

The Junior Class contributed participants in girls and boys athletics, in the student-teacher exchange program and the Martin Luther King Workshops.

Decorating the hallways for both Homecoming and Christmas was a function of some Junior Class members.

In the spring juniors began to contemplate senior pictures and a final year at CHS.

It doesn't take sophomores Long to adjust to CHS

A precious memory for high school students, the class ring, was the major activity of sophomores during the school year. Representatives from the ring company presented the class members with a choice of styles and stones from which to choose.

The Sophomore Class presented their annual class skit during basketball season during an all-school assembly.

The class members participated in the Homecoming dress-up days and Mardi Gras through their clubs and organizations. They also participated in athletics during the 1974-75 school year.

Looking forward, the sophomores planned car washes which helped them financially for their junior year. They are responsible for organizing the Junior and Senior Prom.

$Jingle ... $Jingle ... $Jingle ... $Jingle ... $Jin

Jingle, jangle, the sounds of coins; bread, dough, moola; inflation, evaluation, recession, depression, gross national product; and we all know that money doesn't talk, it swears! But besides all this profane money, behind the obvious scene is another view—one with much talking and conversing, declarations of dislike and exclamations of pleasure—the everyday, average discussion that occurs in every store and business across the country. Something we have all participated in and are a part of, an uncontrolled and often spontaneous phenomenon, shared by both the consumer and merchant. A subtle, often misunderstood relationship exists between the individuals, encompassing the need for and use of money. Whether it's buying groceries at a supermarket or trying on a pair of shoes or having your photograph taken or just about anything else imaginable, the never-ending use of dialogue is involved throughout the school.

High School is a waste of time . . .

. . . unless you find a job that turns you on and makes good use of your education. Inland Steel wants only people who want to use everything they've learned in high school--and strongly desire to grow personally and in their chosen field.

Inland's future growth depends on the creativity and productivity of its people. If you want a really challenging opportunity to contribute--with the rewards and responsibilities that go with it--Inland wants to talk to you.

INLAND STEEL COMPANY

We need action-seeking graduates for opportunities in clerical . . . production . . . technical . . . and craft apprenticeship areas.

Think it over. If you have high aspirations and a good high school record, take time to find out about a career with us.

Whew! ... Whew! ... Whew! ... Whew! ... V

It's the time of year for gaining losses and losing gains, for closing our book (but not our memories) on the school year, for breathing a final sign of happiness, amazement and also melancholy. Whew! It's been a year like any other year— hectic with activities and events, games and exams, dances and the routine day-to-day basis of school like; the only difference was the faces. If there was a change or an alteration of any kind, it was instigated by, students with faceless identities and voiceless defiance. We, who are now, talk with our friends, chat with our adversaries. But more is needed than mere pleasantries. The need for dialogue will never diminish.

Special thanks to Paragon year-book representative Mr. George Kingsley, Jr. and to Mr. Jim Spasoff, Spasoff Studio, for their assistance in the production of this book. Kelly Cleary, newspaper editor, provided many of the photos for the 1975 CHIEFTAIN.
